The Creation of the Last Leonardo

While Leonardo's most famous works—Mona Lisa, The Last Supper, and Vitruvian Man—are well documented, rumors persist of a final, lesser-known masterpiece completed late in his life. Known colloquially as "The Last Leonardo," some art historians believe this piece was an experimental synthesis of his lifelong pursuits, combining artistic mastery with scientific inquiry.

This painting, supposed to be his last major work, has eluded definitive identification. Theories suggest it could be a hidden self-portrait, a symbolic allegory, or even an unfinished fragment. Its elusive nature fuels ongoing research and spirited debates within the art world.

One of the most persistent questions is whether the "Last Leonardo" even exists as a complete, extant artwork. Several hypotheses have been proposed:
