The Formation of the United Nations

The United Nations was officially founded on October 24, 1945, following the end of World War II. The devastation and atrocities of the war highlighted the urgent need for a new international organization capable of preventing future conflicts and promoting peace. Key events leading to the UN?s formation include:

- The failure of the League of Nations to prevent World War II
- The Atlantic Charter of 1941, which outlined principles for peace and security
- The Casablanca Conference in 1943, where Allied leaders discussed the creation of a new organization
- The formal signing of the UN Charter in 1945, with the organization officially coming into existence later that year

Core Principles and Goals

The UN was founded on fundamental principles aimed at maintaining international peace and promoting cooperation. These include:

- Sovereign equality of all member states
- Peaceful resolution of disputes
- Non-interference in domestic affairs
- Respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms
- International cooperation for social and economic development

- Secretariat: Led by the Secretary-General, it manages day-to-day operations and implements policies.

- Trusteeship Council: Originally established to oversee the administration of trust territories; now largely inactive.

Specialized Agencies and Programs
