Origins and Historical Development of the Ethiopian Orthodox Tewahedo Bible

Early Beginnings and Historical Roots

The roots of the Ethiopian Orthodox Tewahedo Bible trace back to the early Christian era, with Ethiopia often regarded as one of the earliest regions to embrace Christianity as the state religion. According to tradition, the Ethiopian Church was established in the 4th century during the reign of King Ezana of Axum, making it one of the oldest Christian communities in the world.

Historical evidence suggests that the translation of biblical texts into Ge'ez, the liturgical language of the Ethiopian Orthodox Church, began as early as the 4th or 5th century. Ge'ez, an ancient Semitic language no longer spoken colloquially, remains the liturgical language of the church and the language in which the Ethiopian Orthodox Tewahedo Bible is primarily written.

The Canonical Development

The Ethiopian biblical canon is unique among Christian traditions, comprising books that are not part of the Western or Eastern Christian canons. The development of this canon was influenced by early Christian theological debates, local traditions, and the church's desire to include texts deemed spiritually significant.

The canon was formalized over centuries, with notable contributions from church fathers and scholars who translated and compiled these sacred texts. The translation into Ge'ez solidified the texts' status as doctrinal authority and liturgical cornerstone.
